Ten Cents a Quart Will Probably Be Charged After November 1-Higher Cost Should Bring a Proportionately Better Quality Is the Statement of Health Officer Woodward.

That the recent crusade for pure milk and the much discussed milk regulations llowing it, have little or nothing to do with the promised increase in the price of that commodity was developed yesterday by statements from several prominent dairymen.

It is, however, practically certain that the increase will come, and by November We're now starting on our elev- the people of Washington will be taxed enth year in business, and we want at least 2 cents more a quart for milk it to be the biggest year of our than they are now paying. Many people cannot afford to buy milk at 10 cents a quart, and they will either curtail their consumption of milk or take to the condensed brands. We are running four wagons now, but I believe that after the increase goes into effect we will be lucky to have two in commission." one mentioned the new milk regulations as a reason for the increase in the price. Commissioner Macfarland said:

"If the price of milk is too low for a reasonable profit, it is obvious that it will have to be raised. If milk of a blokes standard than her blokes standard than her blokes standard than her blokes standard than her blokes gher standard than has hitherto been ent of the law, the consumer "Of course no such legislation has as a reasonable profit, no intelligent con-sumer will object. The proposed increas-

Health Officer Woodward said he saw o reason why the price of milk should not be increased if the dealers found they could not make a reasonable profit at the present price, but he also remarked that with the increase of the price of milk there would have to come a proportionately better quality. The largest dairy lunch proprietors on the other hand say that they will not increase the price. Most of them deal irectly with the producers and have co tracts made in such a way that the recent decision of the producers will not affect them. Others have herds of their

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

Bulletin.

A LIMITED TRAIN WITH NO EXTRA FARE.

Usually a "Limited" train means an extra fare for the additional service rendered. The "Pennsylvania Special," the eighteenhour train to Chicago, and "The Pennsylvania Limited," the world's standard passenger train, both models of perfect equipment and service, are extra fare trains of world-wide reputation. The name of either is a guarantee of the highest excellence in all that pertains to high-grade transportation.

But there is one "Limited" which appeals particularly to the Washingtonian who travels between the National Capital and Chicago-the "Chicago Limited." On this superb train of Parlor-Smoking, Dining, and Observation cars, which carries through Drawing-Room Sleeping cars from Washington, there is no extra fare from Washington or Baltimore. It leaves Washington at 5:45 P. M. and arrives in Chicago at 4:00 P. M.-twenty-three hours and fifteen minutes from the Potomac to Lake Michigan.

A similar train returning, the "Manhattan Limited," affords
